

Contents – Outline

List of Abbreviations	xxi
Table of Cases	xxiii
Table of German Cases	xxv
Introduction	1
1 Modern developments	1
2 Research questions and structure of the book	1
3 The subject matter: Transnational uniform contract law	2
Part 1: General aspects of uniform private law:
Jurisprudential categories and purpose	5
Chapter 1: Diversity in the law	7
1.1 Sovereignty of states and the role of private law	7
1.1.1 Assertion of sovereignty in international trade	9
1.1.2 Assertion of sovereignty towards the private individual	10
1.1.3 Unity of law and state: The state as the sole source of law?	11
1.1.3.1 Territorial matters and the paradox of contract law	11
1.1.3.2 Sovereignty and legitimacy of private law	13
1.1.3.3 Legitimacy of a-national commercial law	18
1.1.4 Conclusion	21
1.2 Distinctiveness of substantive contract law of distinct sovereign states.....	21
1.2.1 Application of foreign law	22
1.2.1.1 Forum and territory	22
1.2.1.2 Legal theory	23
1.2.2 Reception of foreign law	26
1.2.3 Conclusion	28
1.3 Party autonomy: How autonomous is the individual?	28
1.3.1 Choice of law.....	28
1.3.1.1 Common law	28
1.3.1.2 The Rome Convention	29
1.3.2 Limits of choice of law: Doctrines of evasion and the role of mandatory rules	30
1.3.3 Conclusion	32
1.4 Conclusion	33

Chapter 2: Unity through uniform private law	35
2.1 Why uniformity?	36
2.1.1 Globalisation	36
2.1.2 The costs of difference	37
2.1.3 Inverse conclusion: Indicators of acceptance	38
2.1.4 Conclusion	39
2.2 What uniformity?	40
2.2.1 Uniformity of results: The desire for certainty and predictability	40
2.2.2 Uniformity of sources	41
2.2.2.1 Uniformity through codification on the domestic level	42
2.2.2.2 Uniformity on the international level: Examples of uniform law sources	48
2.2.3 Uniformity of application and interpretation methods	53
2.2.4 Conclusion	54
2.3 Conclusion	55
Conclusion (Part 1)	57
Part 2: Methods of applying uniform private law within domestic legal systems	59
Introduction	59
Chapter 3: Performance of payment obligations in the UPICC	61
3.1 Starting point: Article 7.2.1 UPICC and scholarly critique.....	61
3.1.1 Articles 7.2.1 and 7.2.2 UPICC	62
3.1.2 Scholarly critique	62
3.2 Towards a methodology of transnational contract law:
Doctrinal foundations	63
3.2.1 Autonomous method of applying Art 7.2.1 UPICC	64
3.2.2 Conclusion and structure of autonomous methodological approach ..	65
3.3 Scope of the payment rule in Art 7.2.1 UPICC	66
3.3.1 The legal nature of the right to performance in Art 7.2.1 UPICC	66
3.3.2 The wording of Art 7.2.1: Unqualified right to performance? Debt or damages?	69
3.3.3 Termination and non-performance under Arts 7.3.1, 7.3.3 UPICC ...	70
3.4 Conclusion	71
Chapter 4: Exemplary application of the UPICC in the context of English law	73
4.1 Compatibility of the UPICC with English law	73
4.1.1 Requiring performance and payment obligations in international contract law	75
4.1.2 The law relating to specific performance of payment obligations in common law jurisdictions	76
4.1.3 Common origins of specific performance in European jurisdictions ..	79

6.1.2	The scope of the RC in Germany and traditional choice of law rules	132
6.1.3	Traditional English and German choice of law rules	133
6.1.3.1	The role of contractual obligations as a criterion to determine the applicable law	133
6.1.3.2	Finding a legal system for the contract.....	134
6.1.4	Finding a state for the contract under the scope of the Rome Convention	134
6.2	Current use of the UPICC: Experience in practice	137
6.2.1	Source of law function of the UPICC in general legal doctrine	138
6.2.2	Significance of the doctrines of sources of laws in practice	140
6.2.3	The UPICC in the traditional doctrine of sources of law	141
6.3	Consequences under the prevailing view regarding the UPICC as governing law	143
6.3.1	Considerations permitting further evolution of the UPICC towards sources of law	143
6.3.2	Suggested focus of research to establish the origin of source of law function of the UPICC	145
6.4	Conclusion	148
Chapter 7: Methods of integration in the general conflict of laws		149
7.1	Review of the current discussion regarding the status of transnational law	149
7.1.1	Art 3 RC	150
7.1.2	No source of law function without state legislation	151
7.1.3	Party autonomy as source of law	152
7.1.4	Substantive argument	153
7.2	Arbitration awards as source of law: ICC case No 7110	153
7.2.1	Application of the UPICC and general principles of law under procedural aspects	154
7.2.2	Construction of choice of law clause	154
7.2.2.1	Scope of the UPICC according to their Preamble	155
7.2.2.2	Substantive aspects supporting application of UPICC	156
7.2.3	Application to the substance of the dispute	157
7.2.3.1	Primary or secondary sources of law? Ambiguous situation	157
7.2.3.2	Four counts of analysis of UPICC provisions.....	158
7.2.3.3	First conclusion: Questionable role of arbitration tribunals as pioneers of integrating a-national law rules into domestic doctrine	159
7.2.3.4	Fifth and sixth count of reference to UPICC and analytical evaluation	161
7.2.3.5	Second conclusion	163
7.3	Reconciliation of UPICC with domestic conflict of laws	164
7.3.1	Combination solution in choice of law clauses	165
7.3.2	The doctrine of gaps in international uniform laws and supplementary application of domestic law	165

7.3.3 Suggested method for an integrating conflict of laws doctrine.....	167
7.4 Conclusion	168
Chapter 8: Methods of integration through commercial arbitration.....	171
8.1 Choice of law in commercial arbitration	172
8.1.1 Current German law of arbitration	172
8.1.2 Doctrinal requirements disregarded by legislator	173
8.1.3 Case law	176
8.1.4 Status quo regarding the application of the UPICC in arbitration proceedings under German law	177
8.1.5 Comparing other national legislation relating to choice of law in commercial arbitration	178
8.2 Challenging awards based on a-national law under domestic arbitration law	180
8.2.1 Scope of judicial supervision in selected arbitration laws	181
8.2.2 Judicial review of arbitration awards based on a-national law rules under current English law	181
8.2.2.1 Significance of judicial review for the development of English commercial law	182
8.2.2.2 Traditional position in English law set forth in the Arbitration Act 1996?	183
8.2.2.3 Legal situation under the Arbitration Act 1996	184
8.2.2.4 Case law: Authority following the Channel Tunnel litigation	186
8.2.2.5 Scope of appeal on questions of law	187
8.2.2.6 Discussion of the position under English arbitration legislation and the formative role of the courts	188
8.2.2.7 Conclusion	192
8.2.3 Judicial review of commercial arbitration awards under current German law	193
8.2.3.1 No clear position in legal writings	193
8.2.3.2 Critical voices and well-preserved prejudices	193
8.2.3.3 Advocated motivations for choice of law	196
8.2.3.4 Stigmatising a-national rules of law regarding choice of law in international contracts for the wrong reasons	197
8.2.3.5 Protectionist viewpoint	198
8.2.3.6 The actual motivations behind choice of law clauses in international commercial contracts	199
8.2.3.7 Giving effect to choice of law clauses under the scope of the Rome Convention	200
8.2.3.8 Conclusion	201
8.3 The desirable standard in the law of arbitration: Discussion	201
8.3.1 The nature and objective of arbitration	202
8.3.2 Regulating contract law in the state	203
8.3.3 Historic argument: Forming identity	203

8.3.4	Recommended adjustment of legislation and analytical foundations	206
8.3.4.1	Equity decisions distinct from application of a-national rules of law	206
8.3.4.2	Reassuring position in case law	207
8.3.5	Status quo under German law: Conclusion	208
8.3.6	Comment and suggestion for a doctrine of international commercial contract within the German legal system	208
8.4	Summary: Autonomous source of law function of a-national rules of law	209
8.5	Conclusion	210
	Chapter 9: Conclusion	213
	Bibliography	217